APPENDIX, 20-G.

STATEMENT OF SPECIALIZED EXPERIENCE

As part of a sustained and growing interest in human rights, my practical experience and training in labor-management relations stretches over a period of thirty years. It began during the mid-1930's when I became a teacher of Workers' Education, WPA. During 1936-1937 I attended Brookwood Labor College (supported by the American Federation of Labor) and studied trade unionism, collective bargaining, social and labor legislation, problems of farm labor and migrant workers. As part of my training, along with students from trade unions and farm workers organizations, I participated as a volunteer union organizer in the automobile industry during the Auto Workers' General Strike. As a teacher of Workers Education, I organized and taught classes of unionized workers in trade union subjects.

This interest continued throughout law school and was extended to an interest in fair employment practices. In preparation for the LL.M. degree, I majored in Constitutional Law and Labor Law, engaged in intensive study of National Labor Relations Board operations, procedures and techniques. This research culminated in one of the first definitive law review articles on fair employment ("The Right to Equal Opportunity in Employment," -- see 12 C.L. Publications), which was reprinted in several periodicals and cited in a court decision on discrimination in employment.

In law practice, have dealt with legal problems of sharecroppers and migrant workers, and have advised and represented various persons in matters of alleged unfair and discriminatory hiring and firing practices. Prepared memoranda of law and briefs dealing with issues of discrimination in employment and worked on drafts of model anti-discrimination laws.

At Paul, Weiss, Rifkind, Wharton & Garrison, handled matters of labor-management relations as counsel for employer, e.g. arbitration proceedings in connection with collective bargaining agreements and disputes as to seniority rights, work assignments, and other employment rights growing out of multi-corporate acquisitions; analyzed conflicting claims of various groups of employees and union locals under collective bargaining contracts and advised employer of contractual obligations thereof; reviewed cases involving disciplinary action to insure that contractual obligations were met and that final, warranted decision, prepared supportive memoranda and briefs for positions taken.

As a member of the Committee on Civil and Political Rights of the President's Commission on the Status of Women, 1962-1963, at the request of the Commission I did an intensive study on the background of discrimination against women including discrimination in employment because of sex. (See 20-G, Project on Research at Yale Law School in preparation for J.S.D. thesis, a socio-legal study of the background of present racial and gender aspects of the "racial crisis", included comprehensive

During 1936-1938, I was associated with the Lovestone group in New York City. I joined this group because I was informed I could get an understanding of and critical appraisal of Communism, which I did. While the leaders of this group were former members of the Communist Party in the 1920's, they were the most knowledgeable critics of Communist methods and tactics, and for that reason I have never regretted my exposure to them. My own philosophy has been one of creative non-violent direct action which I have studied and espoused since my law student days in the early 1940's.

APPENDIX Question No. 35.

During my student days, in part time jobs under sweatshop conditions, I was not noted for obsequiousness. Hence, on one or two occasions I was fired for refusal to obey what I thought were unreasonable orders. I have in mind a waitress job with Alice Foote McDougall, in which a Southern hostess discharged me because she did not think I spoke to her with sufficient politeness. In a typing job I was let go because I made too many errors. In a one-day housekeeping job I was fired because I couldn't cook. To the best of my knowledge I have not been discharged from a responsible job for undesirable characteristics.

Question No. 37

In 1935, I was arrested on a picket line during the boycott of the New York American Newspaper Guild members of the New York Amsterdam News. It was during the days when the picketing (more than 2 or three pickets) was being tested. I was arrested along with 15 to 20 other pickets. I was dismissed.

In February or March, 1940, I was arrested on a Virginia Interstate Bus at Petersburg, Va. for refusing to move to a broken seat when white passengers entered the bus. I was fined; the case was appealed by NAACP counsel. The court, after investigating a constitutional challenge of the Virginia statute withdrew the charge of violation of segregation statute and retained a disorderly conduct charge. On appeal the case was dismissed. I refused to pay the fine and spent several days in jail using non-violent tactics. The jail warden to get the cell cleaned and disinfected succeeded and also received an apology from the warden. Please -- a rare occurrence in 1940.

Full disclosure of both of these arrests was made in my application for admission to the New York State Bar. Disclosure was also made in my application to the California Bar. The interstate bus case is mentioned in the Supreme Court decision, Morgan v. Virginia, 328 U.S. 373 (1945), involving someone else, in which segregation laws declared inapplicable to interstate passengers.

PAUL MURRAY
YALE LAW SCHOOL

A letterhead of the Worker's Defense League, dated December 3, 1940, listed Paul Murray as a member of the National Executive Board of that organization. The letterhead of that organization dated November 27, 1946, listed her in a similar capacity. A letterhead dated April 29, 1950, listed Paul Murray as a member of the National Advisory Committee of that organization. The Worker's Defense League has not been cited as a subversive group by either the Department of Justice or a legislative group; however, FBI files reflect that it was formed by the Socialist Party in May, 1938, as a militant political nonpartisan organization to protect labor's rights before the Courts and in mobilizing public support. (100-6557-31, 101, 253.)

Information was received in 1960 that Paul Murray, Special Secretary of the Worker's Defense League, was at that time an inactive member of the Socialist Party who gave all her time to the Worker's Defense League. (61-10123-46)

A letterhead of the Civil Rights Defense Committee dated August 5, 1943, carried a list of members of the national committee. Included in this list was the name of Paul Murray. As a footnote on the stationery of the Civil Rights Defense Committee was a statement that the Civil Rights Defense Committee was endorsed by the American Civil Liberties Union and Worker's Defense League.

Concerning the Civil Rights Defense Committee of New York City, a reliable source of information advised during 1961 that this committee was formed during 1941, having as its primary purpose the defense of the members of the Socialist Workers Party who were being tried in Minneapolis, Minnesota. The Socialist Workers Party has been cited by the Department of Justice pursuant to Executive Order 10450. (62-3673-18)

Paul Murray

Information was received in 1948 that Paul Murray, 708 120th Street, Howard University, Washington, D.C., was a subscriber to "The Militant." It was reliably reported in November, 1948, that "The Militant" is claimed, controlled (sup-publis-hed) a weekly newspaper of the Socialist Workers Party.

A reliable source of information advised in December, 1948, that as of that date the name of Paul Murray, 212 West 59th Street, New York City, was included in a list of active members of the National Lawyers Guild. The National Lawyers Guild has been cited as a communist front by the House Committee on Un-American Activities in a report dated March 22, 1944. (G2-84745-19)

The files of the FBI contain no additional pertinent information regarding captioned individual.

A full field investigation is being conducted by this Bureau concerning the captioned applicant at the request of the Civil Service Commission, the basis being admissions on her Standard Form 57 of (1) membership in Lovestoneite Group in New York City during 1936 through 1938, (2) employment by Open Road, Inc., on November, 1930, to March, 1931, and (3) employment by Spanish Refugee Campaign from August to November, 1939.

It should be noted that Jay Lovestone, following his expulsion from the Communist Party of the United States in 1927, formed a dissenting group. One of the names used by this group is the Independent Communist Labor League of America which has been cited by the House Committee on Un-American Activities.

Concerning Open Road, it should be noted that this group was cited in the May, 14, 1951, House Committee on Un-American Activities Guide.

Concerning the Spanish Refugee Campaign, it should be noted that the House Committee on Un-American Activities has cited the Spanish Refugee Relief Campaign as a communist front.
